Description:

The Aston Martin V8 Vantage appeared in February 1977 as a performance-enhanced version of the V8. Externally, it was recognisable by deep front skirts, a clad radiator grille with recessed auxiliary headlights, widened wheel arches and a spoiler integrated into the tailgate. Optimised engines up to the X-Pack specification from 1986 offered outputs of up to 432 hp and made the car the fastest production vehicle of its time!

This rare V8 Vantage X-Pack was originally ordered and produced by Achilli Motors in Italy with LHD. Before completion, the order was cancelled and sold to a British buyer. Before completion, the vehicle was changed to right-hand drive. In mid-2014, the vehicle arrived in Germany to its current owner. On his behalf, the Aston was converted back to its original left-hand drive configuration.

The car is in perfect original condition with a total mileage of just 52.000 mls! The original on-board folder as well as a valuation report are available. The car has been meticulously maintained, especially technically. A complete service and ownership history is available.

This is a very special collector's item for the Aston Martin enthusiast and at the same time a very interesting investment!
