Description:

Franco Scaglione was the gentleman among Italian designers: always elegantly dressed, he preferred to drive a Mercedes and travel in the company of "a secretary of breathtaking beauty", as Ferruccio Lamborghini liked to tell us. Scaglione worked for Bertone, but in fact he was always his own boss - his designs had their very own style. He became famous for his three Alfa Romeo Berlinetta Aerodinamica Tecnica, better known as B.A.T. 5, 7 and 9. These aerodynamic studies were then also the inspiration for the Giulietta Sprint Speciale.

Only about 1,366 examples of the Alfa Romeo Giulietta Sprint Speciale were built until 1962.

This exceptional Alfa Romeo Giulietta

1300 Sprint Speciale was built in June 1962 at the factory in Arese, Italy and delivered to Paris in July 1962. The history of the car is documented throughout. The car has a successful racing history for over 40 years.

This Alfa Romeo Giulietta was completely restored by Alfa Romeo a few years ago. The restoration was extensively photo-documented. The engine has been optimised for performance. Overall, the car impresses with its first-class condition.
