Description:

The Porsche 993 is the successor to the Porsche 964 and is the last model of the Porsche classic 911 to have a boxer engine with air cooling. The Turbo, the top model of the 993 model series, was launched in 1995 and can be recognised by its fixed large rear wing. Unlike its predecessor in the 964 series, the 993 Turbo is equipped with two turbochargers each with intercoolers. This results in a quicker response and a more even power curve. The power develops evenly without surprising thrust when the turbocharger responds.

In 1996, only 1,775 examples of the 993 Turbo were produced.

The Porsche 993 Turbo offered here was first registered in the USA in 1996. The car is in a very beautiful, well-maintained original condition and largely in its original paint. The 993 Turbo has a total mileage of only 32,250 mls! The history is well documented. The on-board folder belonging to the vehicle with the original service booklet and service invoices together with a German registration are available. An extensive service at a Porsche specialist workshop is currently being carried out. This is a rare opportunity to acquire one of the legendary Porsche 993 Turbo in excellent condition.
