Description:

The type Mercedes Benz 300 S (W188) was introduced in the fall of 1951. There was a choice between the two-door coupe, convertible and the roadster. Mercedes-Benz not only gave the 300 S a shorter chassis (15 cm less than the 300), but also increased the compression ratio, thus achieving a power increase from 35 hp to 150 hp.

The car was extensively restored a few years ago and has a excellent body with perfect gaps. In addition to its excellent driving characteristics, it also impresses with its beautiful colour scheme. Just 141 examples of this model were built. The vehicle is "Matching-Number".
