Description:

What immediately catches the eye is what makes the Porsche 911 GT3 with Touring package so different: The Touring 911 comes without a rear wing and instead has a variable rear spoiler like the 911 Carrera. Furthermore the reminiscence of the limited GT3 R is no coincidence either, as this also has no spoiler.

The GT3 Touring is powered by a four-litre naturally aspirated engine, which has already proven its reliability in GT3 Cup racing cars. 500 hp and 460 Newton metres act on the rear axle and fire the GT3 to 100 km/h in 3.9 seconds. From there, it continues on to 316 km/h, which is just 4 km/h below the top speed of its spoiled counterpart. (Factory data)

Engine:

6-cylinder, 3996 ccm, 500 hp
