Description:

The Ferrari Dino 246 GT was presented to the public at the Genfer Auto Salon in spring 1969 as the follower of the 206 GT, one of the first produced Sports Cars with mid-mounted-engine. The name "246" refers to the 2.4 litre cubic capacity and the six cylinder of the engine. Between 1971 until 1974 only 3.061 vehicles of the 246 GT/S E-series were built.

In January 1972, this Ferrari Dino was delivered to Canada. Some years ago the car has been completely restored under the direction of the last owner. A photo documentation of the restoration, as well as a valuation report are available.

Equipment:

Daytona seats, wooden steering wheel

Engine:

V6-cylinder, 2418 cm³, 235 km/h
