Description:

The 300 SL celebrated its premiere at the "International Motor Sports Show" in New York in 1954. After a very positive public response, series production began in August 1954 at the Sindelfingen plant. Production of the roadster began in 1957 as the successor to the gullwing.

According to the data card, this 300 SL Roadster was delivered to New Jersey (USA) in this color combination (matching colours) in 1957 via the Mercedes-Benz agency Mönkemöller in Bremen. The 300 SL remained in the USA until 2013 (US title is available). In Germany it was restored to the highest standard by the Brabus company (BraBus 6 Star-Restoration) and has been in concours condition since. All receipts and the complete documentation of the restoration are of course available. Car comes with a fresh Forensic-Expertise.
