Description:

The coupés and cabriolets of the W111 series were produced between 1961 and 1971 with different engine variants. The vehicle presented here is the last one produced, the so-called 'Hochkühler' with the powerful 2.8-litre engine.

According to available documents, the car was sold by the carship dealer Lorinser in Waiblingen to its current owner in 2013. Under his direction, the vehicle was extensively partially restored and technically overhauled on its very good original basis. A good opportunity to acquire a 'high cooler' in an extremely tasteful colour combination and with extensive invoice and maintenance documentation for the last 10 years.

Engine:

2,8 ltr.-6-cylinder, 2.748 cm³, 160 hp (factory data)
