Description:

The Mercedes-Benz 250 SE Cabriolet, built from 1965 to 1967, is a particularly elegant representative of the legendary W111 model series. It combines timeless design with solid engineering and luxurious equipment. The powerful 2.5-litre in-line six-cylinder engine with mechanical petrol injection offered a harmonious combination of performance and comfort for the time. Only 954 examples of this exclusive model were produced - each of them painstakingly handcrafted. Today, the 250 SE Cabriolet is one of the most sought-after classics of the Mercedes-Benz brand and is regarded as a stylish icon of the 1960s.

According to the Mercedes-Benz data card available, the 250 SE Cabriolet presented here was delivered to the USA in its current colour scheme on 26.10.1967. The car was returned to Germany around 2007 and subsequently underwent an uncompromising complete restoration of all components by specialised Mercedes-Benz workshops. Since the restoration, the car has just been driven 4,276 km. The original on-board folder including service booklet and a valuation report for €310,000 are available. A rare opportunity to acquire a very well-documented 250 SE convertible in its original and rare colour scheme in absolutely exceptional condition.

Engine: Inline 6-cylinder, 2,496 cm³, 150 hp (110 Kw)
