Description:

The Ferrari 360 Modena represents a major step forward in the history of the marque from Maranello. For the first time, Ferrari used an entirely aluminium chassis, resulting in significant weight reduction and substantially improved driving dynamics. The naturally aspirated V8 engine impresses with its high-revving character and unmistakable soundtrack. Approximately 8,800 coupé models were produced in total, with only a comparatively small number delivered with the traditional manual gearbox – a configuration that is especially sought after today.

The Ferrari 360 Modena presented here was delivered new in Germany to its first and, to this day, only owner, a dedicated Ferrari enthusiast. First registered on 03 September 1999, the car stands out not only for its low mileage of just 62,000 km, but also for its classic Rosso Corsa exterior paired with a nero leather interior. The original onboard documents, including the service booklet, are present.

The vehicle is in exceptionally well-maintained condition. A major service, including timing belt replacement, has recently been completed.
