Description

The Porsche 911 Targa 4S from the 991.2 generation combines the iconic Targa silhouette with the modern engineering of the seventh-generation 911. Powered by a 3.0-liter six-cylinder twin-turbo boxer engine producing 420 hp, the Targa 4S delivers effortless performance and the unmistakable driving experience of a Porsche 911. Its distinctive Targa design, featuring a fixed rollover bar and retractable glass roof, combines sporty styling with an open-air driving experience and excellent everyday usability.

The vehicle presented here was delivered to its current owner on April 28, 2016. It is in nearly like-new condition, has been regularly serviced by Porsche, and has covered just 17,977 km. The complete onboard documentation is included. A particular highlight is the sought-after version without a gasoline particulate filter (OPF), delivering the characteristic and particularly emotional engine sound of the early 991.2 models.

A remarkable example of the 991.2 generation, presented in an exceptional color combination and nearly like-new condition. This Porsche 911 Targa 4S promises its next owner an outstanding driving experience and the timeless appeal of one of Porsche's most distinctive models.

Engine: 6-cylinder twin-turbo boxer engine, 2,981 cm³, 420 hp (309 kW)
